

The Solidarity of Sickness

- Everyone's experience of illness is different, but each story interlinks.
- People will travel in between hospitals all throughout their lives.
- "Hospital exits always feel far away".
- There is little to no privacy found in hospitals- through a curtain.
- Introverted experience.
- Found in a vulnerable state.
- 'Wanting more space and solitude.'
- The rooms cut access out from the hallways- like stuck in a cell, hard to leave.
